HARDING GIVING 1924 PLATFORM IN WEST TALKS

ENROUTE WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, RAWLINGS, Wyo., June 26—President Harding is slowly and methodically writing the republican platform of 1924 as he pursues his steady speechmaking way westward.

He is choosing his subjects with great care, with an eye to party harmony, and, when he has completed the score of major addresses which features his western tour they will constitute, his political advisers said today, a republican book for next year's usage. The actual platform builders will find the plank all mapped out for them when convention time rolls around.

The president has been gone from Washington six days. In that time he has delivered carefully prepared formal addresses on five major topics that are certain to be in the forefront in the issues of next year, international court, prohibition, agricultural prosperity, transportation and he coal problem.

On each of these issues, which are the subject of more or less controversy within the republican party, Mr. Harding has laid down the broad principles he believes his party must follow if he is again to be the nominee.

Forcasts Principles

The speeches that are regarded as having forecast the chief planks of the 1924 platform and the principles dictated therein are.

International court (St. Louis)—The party must stand four square on its previous platform pledges in favor of an international court by now accepting the court which the president has proposed, with such reservations as the senate republicans think necessary. Mr. Harding himself wrote some reservations in his St. Louis speech which he believes will be acceptable to the republican party

Railroads (Kansas City)—Regional consolidation of the country's railroad system, so as to allow the weaker roads to lean upon the stronger; the railway labor board to be either strengthened or abandoned; cheaper freight rates to be commended.

Agricultural prosperity (Hutchinson)—The party will "point pride" to the vast array of agricultural relief legislation recently passed and stressed the assertion of Mr. Harding in Hutchinson that "no government in the world has done so much for its farmers as has the administration in Washington in the last two years

For Law Enforcement

Prohibition (Denver)—The party will be uncompromisingly dry; stand squarely behind the 18th amendment and the Volstead law and declare unequivocally for rigid enforcement.

Coal (Cheyenne)—Absolute opposition to nationalization of the mines, as proposed by the United mine workers, and more rigorous supervision of the industry by the government to prevent nation-wide strikes with their inevitable suffering. The paramount interest of the public in the coal industry will be emphasized.

Mr. Harding is not making any promises to his speeches. He is rather rendering an account of his stewardship and leaving promises for future delivery by the actual platform carpenters. He is not attempting so much to lay down precise terms as he is endeavoring to map out the broad outlines which he and his political advisers on this trip believe it is necessary to follow in the 1924 platform construction

Tonight in his salt Lake City speech, the president will address another plank on taxation and governmental economy which will be one of the chief ones.

He will point out that the federal government has reduced expenditures and is now living within its income, due to economies effected at Washington. He told his Denver audience he would show in Salt Lake City that while the federal government has been decreasing its expenditures enormously, state and city governments have been increasing theirs enormously—to a point where local taxes are now considerably more than half of the burden under which the taxpayers are staggering. He will lay most of the blame for high taxes on local government, and if the president has his way, this feature of the taxation issue will be heavily stressed next year

Played Golf Today

The president arrived in Salt Lake City at noon. He was met in Ogden this morning by Governor Mabey, Senator Reed Smoot. Senator King and other Utah political leaders who are to escort him into the capital city.

A public reception at noon in the hotel Utah and a quiet round of golf this afternoon were on the schedule, with a speech in the Mormon tabernacle at 8 p. m.

The president will leave Salt Lake City at 11 o'clock tonight and go to Cedar City in Southern Utah, from which point he will enter Zion Park tomorrow for a day's visit.

State Accepted Peace Monument Given By G. A. R.

COLUMBUS, June 26.—"Out of our busy, bustling life, our cold, calculating commerce; out of the whirring of our wheels and the glitter of our gold, can always be heard the voice of humanity and that voice calling today as never before 'let us have peace,'" declared Governor Donahey this afternoon in an address accepting, on behalf of the state, the "peace memorial" monument placed at the north entrance to the state house grounds by the women of Ohio.

Ceremonies marking the dedication of the monument constituted the chief event of today's program for the annual G. A. R. encampment. The monument bears the inscription:

"Let us have peace"—words immortal by former President U. S. Grant.

"We believe the mission of America should not be to stand aloof, but to join with the world in its effort to usher in an era of universal brotherhood, that the sword may be beaten into plowshares, spears turned into pruning hooks and the people know wars no more," continued Governor Donahey.

"With this hope for the future of my country and believing this memorial to be a fitting expression of this hope and, at the same time, they typifying the love, devotion and patriotic heart of American women, I accept as governor, this memorial upon the part of the state, trusting that, throughout the ages, there may emanate from it the spirit that propted its creation and that the spirit may so impress the passerby and the future citizens of America," the governor said.

5 NEW ENGLAND STATES TIED UP IN PHONE STRIKE

BOSTON, Mass., June 26.—Telephone girls of five New England states struck at 7 o'clock this morning, demanding a $5 a week increase and a seven hour working day.

Between 5,500 and 6,000 girls answered the strike call, according to Miss Julia S. O'Connor, union president. The strike is in force in Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Massachusetts with Boston the headquarters.

List of Strikers

Many college girls were among the strikbreakers in Boston. They had only such instruction as was given them last night before taking places at switchboards.

During the first hours of the strike many coins went into the local pay stations in vain.

A partial estimate of the number on strike follows:

Boston, 4000; Lynn, Saugus, Lynnfield, Nahant, Mass., 245 Providence, including nearly all Rhode Island 595; Springfield, Mass., 500; Holyoke, Mass., 35; Portland, Maine, 50 and Fall River Mass 110.

Rival Unions

A split in the ranks of the strikers has developed, a rival unoin, under leadership of Miss Annie Molloy. This faction refused to join the O'Connor faction in the walkout.

The two unions met at midnight. Miss O'Connor ordered the strike. Her followers—Miss O'Connor lays claim to 85 per cent of all girls employed in the Boston exchanges—agreed to "stay out until they won."

The Molloy group refused to join the movement.

"Cats," "quitters" and "scab" were the names applied to each other by girls of the two groups.

Miss Molloy's followers were then expelled from the international union of telephone girls.

Girls Picketing

Picket lines have been established at all important exchanges According to the strikers, many of the operators reporting for duty today were toll operators The strikers contend these operators will be unable to work without the local operators on duty to handle the calls

Telephone company officials say granting of the operators demands would cost the company $10,000,000.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 26—Nearly 6000 telephone operators in the Providence, Pawtucket and Woonsocket exchanges answered the strike call today and service throughout Rhode Island was badly crippled.

There was no telephone service between Providence and Newport.

SIX NEGROES FACING DEATH TWICE, FREED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 26—The doors of the state prison today swung open for the six negroes who were twice convicted on charges of murder in connection with the Elaine race riot in 1919. The release of the negroes was ordered by the Arkansas supreme court although juries in the Phillips county circuit court twice found them guilty of murder.

The Elaine riot, the outstanding act of mob violence in the history of the state, culminated when a band of armed negroes killed six white planters in Phillips county and the state militia headed by former Governor Brough quelled the disturbance and arrested the six negroes.

The negroes were granted a stay of execution on the eve of both electrocution dates. Failure of the state to prosecute its case against the alleged rioters was given as reason for their release. Negro lodges throughout the country contributed to funds with which to defend the alleged rioters.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 26—The mysterious cablegram said by the state to contain clues which will reveal a motive for the killing of Clarence Peters, former marine, by Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire baker, can be shown to the extraordinary grand jury now investigating Peters' death.

NO DANGER OF ICE SHORTAGE IN THIS CITY

There is no danger of an ice shortage in this city, in spite of the long hot spell, according to S H. Lucas, who is familiar with the needs of the city along this line. With two plants to supply customers with the artificial product, he sees no danger of running short for some time to come.

The city has been making heavy demands on the supply of the ice companies and Mr Lucas estimates that not less than seventy-five tons of ice a day is being used through this hot spell

The hot weather has been the means of a record making business for ice cream and soft drink dealers. A steady stream of customers, especially in the heat of the day, keeps the clerks on the jump and the public is generous in it's demands for anything that will cool them off for a short time at least.

"Dry, rotten guard beams of the consistency of punk" permitted the elevated train to plunge off the trestle, Dodd said.

He amplified this statement with an assertion that in his opinion "some one, acting swiftly, after the accident, strove to shift responsibility to the motorman of the train thinking him dead."

Dodd said he was convinced the motorman had the "clear track ahead" signal when the accident occurred.

"But in my belief some one, immediately after the accident turned the red signal to make it appear the motorman ran over a block," Dodd asserted.

FORD—THE FRIEND OF THE WAGE-EARNER

We note that Chauncey Depew the other day expressed amazement at the different positions which John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford occupied in the public mind. He called attention to the fact that Henry Ford was receiving an unusually large number of straw votes as a choice for President of the United States, leading all others as reported by "Colliers' Weekly," and that John D. Rockefeller could probably be elected to no office within the gift of the people anywhere. Yet, he said, both men are very wealthy. Ford probably the wealthier of the two, and Mr. Rockefeller had given away fully $500,000,000.00 and Mr. Ford had given away practically nothing. He says, "I cannot understand how people consider Mr. Ford as practically the champion of the poor man, while Mr. Rockefeller seems to have few friends among the average men."

We do not believe the cause for this is difficult to discover. Mr. Depew is right. Mr. Ford has not much reputation for being a giver of large gifts, but as a matter of fact, men do not gain reputation among the wage-earners and poor by gifts, either to the poor or to institutions which are supposed to be championing the interests of the poor. This is particularly true when the giver is a large employer of labor, and it is felt that the donor is paying his employees the lowest price for which he can hire them to work for him in the market. The workmen everywhere in America feel that if they get what is justly due them for service rendered they can look out for themselves and for their families' interests without charity and in fact this is the manner in which they desire to operate.

First they feel that justice should be done them and after that if their employer has anything to contribute to charitable enterprises he is welcome to do so. But until he has been just with them, there is a lurking feeling in their mind that the money which he pays out in charity is taken from their pockets.

Mr. Rockefeller does not enjoy the reputation in America for paying any extremely large wages to his workmen. On the other hand Henry Ford has shared his enormous profits with the wage earners in his plant paying them from $1.50 to $2.50 more per day than they could get in other plants doing similar work. This has given Mr. Ford a reputation of being fair and generous to labor. It has given him the reputation for a square deal. It makes us think more of him when he does this than if he had paid his workmen $1.00 a day less and had contributed from his fifty thousand workmen $50,000.00 a day in some form of charity.

We are not discussing here the economics of this matter nor its justice. We are simply pointing out the fact that Mr. Ford has become popular with the wage earning class because he has unquestionably paid them more than the market price would force him to do.

There are other matters entering into this calculation but we believe we have pointed out the main one.

THE WELCOMED (?) MR. HEARST

A great reception is being planned for Senator Hiram Johnson on his return to New York from his trip abroad. Six thousand invitations have been issued for that meeting.

Among those invited is William Randolph Hearst. If Hearst attends and is anything of a factor in connection with the meeting, it is unfortunate for Senator Johnson, and he will probably pray to be delivered from his friends. Mr. Hearst was unable to get anywhere in the democratic party in New York state, and he has been beating the tom-toms for Ford as a candidate on a third party ticket and he will not do the same for "Hi" Johnson.

A position is not necessarily worse nor a case bad that Mr. Hearst espouses, but it arouses suspicion in many people's minds so that the burden of the proof rests upon those with whom Mr. Hearst stands.

Some people may envy President Harding his trip to Alaska; but they do tell us there are points in Alaska where the summer temperature is worse than our own.

We worry about living lives of hardship, and when we have a few we wonder why we worried at the minor experiences which were rather unpleasant.

The booze problem means different things to different people; to the law-enforcement official it means one thing and to the booze user it means another.

What do you think of opportunity? They do say "opportunity knocks but once" and just think of your ability along that line.

KOMICAL TELEGRAMS

By JIM ARMITAGE, Himself

Seems as though everybody has troubles of their own. I wouldn't mention this, but I've been called up so often and told to—that I hate to refuse.

Now the star paper hanger of the O'Donnell outfit is Joe Otten. He's really their efficient man You know what I mean—the pride of the force What he does, the rest try to approach

Now "Alfie" sent Joe down on Lodi street to paper a house and he told him "A colored family lived there and they're very particular" Now particular people are "soft" for Joe, so he put the paper on the wagon and said "Giddap."

Got down on Lodi and rang the bell—colored man came to the door "I'm all ready to paper those two rooms," our hero told him "You're the man that's looking for a paper hanger, ain't you?" "Yes sah, yes sah, been looking for one for two months."

"Well," continued Otten, "You're looking at one of the best," then he started in to throw paper and they say he works fast, although the heat held him back a little.

He had four rooms finished the next afternoon, but had to work till way past midnight the first day. The rooms looked fine when he had them finished. Now Joe isn't exactly modest and when he went back to the store he started telling the boss all about what a swell job he'd done.

O'Donnell thought if it was a piece of work to marvel at, he'd go down and give it the once over—and he did and found the work was just as Joe had represented it to be—only he'd papered the wrong house.

The only difference that made was that the tenant was a renter and the owner refused to pay for it. Now O'Donnell and Otten are trying to laugh it off—sadder but wiser.

Went to the movies with my trainer last night and the lady next to me took exception to my helping the orchestra. I wouldn't have whistled but I was trying to drown out the noise that a lady next to me was making. But it didn't last long—she run out of peanuts.

I didn't have to pay much attention to the picture for the lady to my right had her husband along and she read all the sub-titles aloud—and everyone around us knew just what it all meant.

She didn't let us miss anything. She'd seen the picture before and told us just what to expect long before it arrived.

The comedy was a "pie throwing" affair and I was hoping the comedian would miss what he was aiming at—and hit the aforesaid lady—but no such luck.

In some of the better shows they furnish muzzles—but I guess Mister Georgopole hasn't thought of it

I got in on a pass, so why should I worry?

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"EUGENICS CAN STOP CRIME; LAWYERS CAN HELP," SAYS JUDGE

Mental deficiency is the root from which criminality springs and with its suppression crime will be prevented, Harry Olson, Chief Justice of the Chicago Municipal Court, declared in a recent address before the Eugenics Research Association

Crime prevention, Judge Olson added, is the weeding out of defective stocks and is part of my eugenics program and being most readily discovered and most universally abhorred, crime control becomes the first step in such a program.

He charged that the legal profession of the United States, occupied solely with the enforcement of the law, had neglected to examine the causes of criminality and to keep abreast of modern scientific discoveries. The law, he asserted, should be modernized.

"Crime prevention, as the first step in a nation-wide eugenics program, becomes the concern of the public school teachers, the biologists psychiatrists, the medical profession in general and intelligent lawyers and statesmen," Judge Olsen said. "When that happens, laws will be enacted embodying modern scientific knowledge, the enforcement of which will give the legal profession and the courts a new and better opportunity to become more effective instruments in curbing crime than is now the case.

"As it is, the legal profession and the courts are dealing with laws obsolete from the scientific aspect. Not only is the legal profession necessarily behind scientific discoveries, but it is also behind public opinion."

Judge Olson thought that the direct route out of the legal impasse was by legislation which would express modern scientific opinion For obtaining such legislation the education of the lawyer and the judge was likely to be very helpful, he said.

"It is hard to conceive of any Legislature enacting any law until the lawyer members have shown that the facts back of the law as it is are not what they have been traditionally assumed to be." Judge Olson went on. "And unless the Judges of the highest courts get a more correct understanding there will be a danger of ignorant and hostile interpretations of the law, thus defeating its purpose."

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE SONNET

Nuns fret not at their convent's narrow room;
And hermits are contented with their cells;
And students with their pensive citadels;
Maids at the wheel, the weaver at his loom,
Sit blithe and happy; bees that soar for bloom,
High as the highest peak of Furness-fells,
Will murmur by the hour in foxglove bells;
In truth the prison, unto which we doom
Ourselves, no prison is: and hence for me,
In sundry moods, 'twas pastime to be bound
Within the Sonnet's scanty plot of ground;
Pleased if some souls (for such there needs must be)
Who have felt the weight of too much liberty,
Should find brief solace there, as I have found.

Scorn not the Sonnet; Critic, you have frown'd,
Mindless of its just honours; with this key
Shakespeare unlock'd his heart; the melody
Of this small lute gave ease to Petrarch's wound;
A thousand times this pipe did Tasso sound,
With it the Camoens soothed an exile's grief;
The Sonnet glitter'd a gay myrtle leaf
Amid the cypress with which Dante crown'd
His visionary brow: a glow-worm lamp,
It cheered mild Spenser, call'd from Faery-land
To struggle through dark ways; and when a damp
Fell round the path of Milton, in his hand
The thing became a trumpet; whence he blew
Soul animating strains—alas, too few!

William Wordsworth.

The normal thyroid, ... proper functioning, needs a ... minute amount of iodine. ...odine is believed to be lack- ... the drinking water of the Great Lakes region.

For years it has been known that the administration of iodine in some form reduces goiter, but it is only recently that this has been successfully demonstrated. It has been found that a small amount of iodine taken internally replaces that which is lacking in our food and water. The iodine reduces a simple goiter as it supplies the deficiency which causes the thyroid to enlarge.

Dr. O. P. Kimball and Dr. Marine of Cleveland, gave iodine to school girls in Akron from 1916 to 1920. The results were so noteworthy both in reducing goiter and in preventing it that similar preventive measures are being used in Cleveland and in many cities about the Great Lakes known as the Goiter Belt. In no instance have unfavorable results been reported. This treatment is also being used with striking success in the schools of Switzerland, and other goitrous localities. The Swiss use a small dose of iodine once a week throughout the year. This gradual method seems more successful than taking the iodine twice yearly, as was first done in this country.

Lorain county is located in a goitrous district. About six per cent of the pupils in our schools have noticeable goiters. Probably a much larger proportion have some degree of enlargement of their thyroid gland. The District Department of Health is making this prevention measure available to all school children of Lorain county. One chocolate tablet containing a small amount of iodine taken each week between the ages of eleven and sixteen years will prevent goiter. The medicine is entirely harmless and pleasant to the taste. The tablets are placed in the schools and will be given only with the written consent of the parents. They cost one cent each; a supply sufficient to last through the summer costs twenty-five cents. They may be bought at the schools, or at the health office in Oberlin.

WHEN YOUNG MAN FROM WEST SHOOK ROWING WORLD

The finish of the Yale-Harvard varsity race on the Thames at New London, Conn. Yale is winning by six lengths.

Yale today is still celebrating the most decisive rowing victory over Harvard it has enjoyed in years. This triumph was brought to Old Eli by Ed Leader, young rowing coach from the University of Washington, after "imported" experts and theorists galore had failed. Leader teaches a stroke longer than any accepted as practical by eastern critics. The supremacy of that stroke over the short, choppy stroke used by Harvard was apparent from the first quarter mile on. Yale won the race by six lengths. The freshman and junior crews also won from the Crimson.

ABE MARTIN On Idle Club Women

One o' th' commonest expressions we hear these times is "idle club women." Next t' an eastbound hobo we don't know o' nothin' that's as busy as a club woman. Ther might possibly be an idle woman butt into a club here an' there jest th' same as we find nonproducers an' neglectors o' families in all men's organizations. But th' reg-lar clubwoman is a busy person. She's got t' cover a lot o' territory in a day an' keep her hair from comin' down, an' her nose powdered, an' her heels darned up, an' look presentable an' intellectual at all times. A plain housewife gits a breathin' spell now an' then an' don't have t' keep dolled up an' hooked t'gether, an' her 'phone don't ring all the' time. She kin go about her dustin' an' stirrin' an' scrapin' without bein' absorbed in some great national issue, or important committee work. She puts in th' greater part o' th' afternoon straightenin' th' porch an' preparin' a heavy meal fer a big late husband, while th' "idle club woman" is tearin' all over town puttin' ever' drop o' energy into some gigantic movement fer th' benefit o' th' whole town, or state, or nation, an' not infrequently th' whole world. Th' "idle club woman" may have a few children, but she's not at home naggin' 'em all day. A "lazy club woman" is a woman who has kept her mental faculties alert an' on th' job though married, who has made bread while her mind wuz absorbed in higher things, who has washed dishes an' fried liver an' threshed out great momentous questions all at th' same time. Suppose a business or professional man jest refused t' git interested in anything but his private business, instead o' leadin' some of his pep an' influence t' important civic an' political affairs? Women are peculiarly fitted t' put things over an' we're fer lettin' 'em do all of it they kin. "Why hain't that woman at home?" we hear so much. It's nobuddy's business but her own. Why hain't lots o' men in their offices, or at work? Club women belong t' th' times. They're part o' th' new order o' things, an' we expect ther homes look as neat as lots o' dressin' jacket homes. An' we don't believe in pityin' ther husbands. We never hear of a prominent club woman's husband applyin' fer a divorce, but we do hear o' lots o' poor hoodwinked wives o' club men. We'd never hear o' some men if ther wives didn't git out an' wake th' town up an' start things t' goin'. Anyway we never hear anything about th' husband o' "idle club women" anyhow, so they must like it, or there'd be somethin' doin'. We admire th' "idle club woman when her hair is done up nifty, an' she's belted up an' militant lookin'. We like her 'cause she's alert an' posted an' puts things across, an' because she's enough of a general t' keep help so she kin clean up an' git out an' keep things movin'.

FORD'S DENIAL OF PRESIDENTIAL HOPES HAS ALL EARMARKS OF KEEN POLITICIAN

Henry Ford and (inset) Senator James Couzens.

Political observers profess to see in the repeated denials of presidential aspirations by Henry Ford the keen hand of a shrewd politician. With the nation-wide straw vote of Collier's Weekly showing Ford an odds on favorite for the 1924 derby, the flivver king declares he's too busy to dabble in politics. Neither Republicans nor Democrats take Ford's recent statement seriously. Many a promising presidential booom has been born auspiciously only to be killed by premature exploitation and this is apparently what Ford—if he really intends to become a candidate—and his backers intend to avoid. Senator James Couzens, former partner of Ford, now is one of Michigan's representatives in the U. S. senate.

...chants are winding up the ... of the present term of ... as fast as possible, as many ... of the bar are planning ... vacations and want to get ... during the months of July ... August.

It was decided Monday by the ... Bar Association that next ...day would be the last day that ... judgments might be taken ...ring the present term, and that ...after the coming week no more ...ury trials will take place unless ... agreement on both sides.

The assignment clerks prepare ... long list of cases for trial or ...earing, but even then the courts ...frequently find themselves with ...nothing to do on account of dila...tory tactics of the attorneys. Nevertheless the work has been hustled along and the number of cases waiting to be disposed of is slowly decreasing.

LONDON, June 26.—By an overwhelming majority the British labor party, in conference here today, rejected a resolution for affiliation with the communists. Delegates representing more than 2,000,000 members of labor unions, voted against the resolution.

THEY CALLED HIM AN "OLD PILL"

THAT was years ago when he packed a terrible grouch, a mighty irritable stomach and a liver that refused to do the things that all good livers should. No wonder his friends called him an "old pill" and stayed away.

But that was years ago—long before he discovered Beecham's Pills and learned that two at bedtime can bring sunshine into a man's life. Today, he's an optimist, a hero to his wife, and a staunch believer in Beecham's Pills.

The cheer that Beecham's Pills bring into a man's disposition, is the incomparable cheer of sound digestion, active liver, and the regular habits that make good health.

In the line of fire is a good sized village, and the inhabitants are trapped. In comes a locomotive and train guided by a heroic engineer who risks his life to rescue the people. There are a number of other interesting incidents, and the picture is a strong one. A good comedy and the world pictures are also shown.

GRAND—"Sixty Cents an Hour" and drive it yourself. A comedy drama that will cause many a laugh. It is as full of fun as an egg is of meat. If you hired a car, never had driven one, and then started to take your girl out for a ride you know what would happen. It happens in this picture much to the amusement of the spectators In addition is a new comedy and the events of the week.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Fine Way Katherine Bickett Promised to Help Madge.

KATHERINE!" I exclaimed with joy in my voice.

"At your pleasure, my dear," Katherine Bickett returned, with a warm kiss of greeting. "But at that, it is I who should be exclaiming 'Madge'! No one told me you were coming. I feel distinctly defrauded."

"No one knew," I returned. "I didn't know myself until Dicky announced he had to go out of the city for a little trip. I couldn't see staying in that apartment by myself for any longer time than it took me to dress and pack my bag."

"How you do love city life!" Katherine gibed, and then Katie struck into the conversation with a pleading, deprecatory note in her voice.

"Pleez excooce, Missis Graham, but would you shoost as soon talk somevere else? I 'fraid I get flour on you."

"Of course, Katie," I returned, and with Junior still clinging tightly to my hand, Katherine and I returned to the living-room.

"Katie is planning some culinary surprise for us," I said as we drew our chairs close to the leaping blaze in the fireplace, and Junior cuddled into my arms for the "lots of lovings" he had demanded when I came.

"I thought so," Katherine replied, smiling. "She is so very transparent. But where is Mother Graham? Not ill, I hope?"

"Not in body," I answered, with a troubled smile. "But I believe she means to engage you to care for her as soon as she sees you. She wishes all communication with the rest of the family to come through you until she departs either for Pennsylvania or Michigan."

Madge Confides in Katherine.

"Whew!" Katherine emitted an astonished whistle. "Again?"

"Very much again," I returned grimly. I felt no breach of confidence in telling Katherine of Mother Graham's most recent tantrum. I had first seen this dear friend and learned to love her when she nursed my irascible mother-in-law through a severe illness in the first week of my marriage. Even if Katherine had not since become a kinswoman of mine through her marriage to my brother-cousin, Jack Bickett, she was too familiar a friend, too thoroughly acquainted with Mother Graham's vagaries, for me to attempt to keep her in ignorance of the latest temperamental spasm of that august body.

So, in a few rapid words, I depicted the scene in which my mother-in-law had played the leading role. Katherine listened attentively, but the smile which quirked her lips soon faded, and when I had finished, her pretty mouth was a thin tight line, and her eyes were flashing indignation.

"And as usual, you were the ultimate goat," she commented. "Really, Madge, you are altogether too forbearing. If she were my mother-in-law——"

"You Mean——?"

"You!" I scoffed. "You'd be far more patient than I. Remember, I know you, Katherine Bickett, as well as if I'd moulded your flesh on your bones, so don't try to make yourself out a belligerent lady, for you can't do it."

"Little you know me!" she retorted. "But we'll get nowhere disputing the point, so suppose we talk about something else until Mother Graham discovers I'm in the house? What's the news along the Rialto?"

I gave a distinct start. I had forgotten the thing which I had meant to tell Katherine the moment I saw her. It was a message from little Mrs. Durkee, whispered to me the last thing before I left her home.

"I have troubling news from the Durkees," I replied, and hurried on to tell her of Mrs. Durkee's mysterious illness, her consultation with Dr. Foxham, and his verdict that he feared an operation would be necessary.

"Alfred is to see Dr. Foxham this morning," I said, "and then he is to telephone me. But the last thing before I left Mrs. Durkee whispered this message to me:

"'If I have to go to the hospital, ask Katherine if she will take care of me.'"

"As if I would let anybody else touch her, poor little woman!" Katherine responded with wet eyes, and then, after a minute's thoughtful study, she lifted her head.

"Who is to operate?" she asked.

"I do not know. Mrs. Durkee wants to wait to see her family physician in Marvin before doing anything."

"I know, that old fossil!" Katherine declared with a fine scorn. "There's only one man I'd like to trust her with—there'd be time, too, if it's what we fear, and I'm sure he'd come for a friend of Dicky's."

"You mean——" I asked breathlessly.

"Dr. Braithwaite, of course. He's a wizard in that operation."

MISS LUCILE BAUER WEDS HUGH E. KIRKBRIDE TODAY

One of the prettiest of June weddings was solemnized this morning at nine o'clock at St. Mary's church, when Miss Lucile Bauer and Hugh E. Kirkbride were united in marriage by Father Mooney.

Promptly at the time set for the wedding the bridal procession moved down the aisles to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Huge, the organist at St. Mary's. The church music was furnished by the St. Agnes choir, of which Frank Mackert is director. Mrs. F. Mackert, a sister of the groom, rendered, "Ave Maria." Red roses, ferns and palms decorated the altar and sanctuary.

The bride was charming in a gown of ivory satin and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley, her veil being caught with orange blossoms. Miss Loretta Bauer, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a chiffon dress over orchid satin with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of Columbia and butterfly roses.

David Kirkbride attended his brother as best man. The ushers were Frederick Bauer and Jack Thesing of Lorain.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cleveland, Lorain, Fremont, Fostoria and Youngstown.

Immediately following the ceremony, a breakfast was served to fifty guests, which included the members of the immediate families and a few close friends, at Alber's Villa, the tables being artistically decorated for the occasion.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Egg Souffle—One and one-half pints milk, one tablespoon flour, four eggs, salt to taste, one tablespoon butter. Let butter melt, add flour and mix smooth, add milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Cool. When using the souffle for a breakfast dish this part can be made at night and so be ready in the morning. Beat egg yolks and whites separately, fold into first mixture, season and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake about twenty minutes.

Oatmeal Cookies—One cup sugar, one cup butter or substitute, two eggs, one cup chopped raisins, three cups dry oatmeal, two cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon and salt. Nut meats are a nice addition to this recipe.

Caramel Pudding — One quart milk, one cup sugar, two heaping tablespoons cornstarch, one teaspoon vanilla. Brown sugar over fire, add milk and cornstarch, the latter dissolved in a little cold milk. Cook. Flavor with vanilla.

Stuffed Veal and Rice — Take large bones from loin of veal. Stuff the cavities thus made with a forced meat of chopped pork, rice, salt, pepper, and onion or sage. A few chopped mushrooms will improve it. Cover the sides with greased paper, put a cup of stock into the dripping pan with the meat and baste the first hour with butter and water, after that with the gravy in the pan. Remove the meat to a platter and stir into the gravy one-half cup chopped mushrooms and a little browned flour. Have ready some boiled rice with grains thoroughly separated and seasoned with salt, pepper and onions. Place around the dished veal and over the whole pour the made gravy.

Strawberry Cream Pie—Line a deep pie tin with very light, rich pastry; bake a delicate brown color. Have one quart of crushed and sweetened strawberries and fill the shell; cover with whipped cream to which has been added four tablespoons of sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salf. Spread over the top.

SUGGESTIONS

Waiting on Table—When passing a plate hold it so that the thumb is not over the upper surface of the plate.

Place beverages at the right. When placing a dish in front of a person eating at the table, the waitress stands at the right.

Covers for Molding Board and Rolling Pin—A clean towel rubbed full of flour and laid on the molding board is nice to roll out the biscuits and pie crust on, and saves cleaning the board so often. A cloth around the rolling pin, also filled with flour, prevents the dough from sticking to it. A rolling pin cover may be purchased or one made at home with the leg of an infant's white cotton stocking. Both may be used a number of times before being washed.

NICE SOCIABLE GUYS TO MEET IN THE RING

How would you like to ramble in the woodlands and among the flowers these days with the thought in your mind that on July Fourth you had to crawl into the ring and let one of these birds poke you "on the button"? Both nice sociable looking gents, here, you'll agree. Want your ear or your nose torn off? This is just about the way Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons will look to each other when they face their championship battle at Shelby, Mont.

PLAY GROUND LEAGUES GET A GOOD START

Over 3,000 People Saw Youngsters Frolic First Week on Six Play Grounds

At the regular Monday morning meeting of the playground leaders three leagues for playground ball were organized. Each playground will put a team in each league. Throughout the summer there will be a total of eighteen teams representing the playgrounds in this activity. Most of these teams are organized at the present time and the only step necessary to complete the organization is to place them in the schedule.

In the Midget league the following games will be played: Tuesday—Ely at Franklin, McKinley at Garford, Gates at Hamilton; Thursday—Garford at Ely, Franklin at Gates, Hamilton at McKinley; Friday—Hamilton at Franklin, Garford at Gates, Elvat McKinley; Monday, July 2—Franklin at Garford, McKinley at Gates, and Ely at Hamilton. These games will all be played at 2:30 on the days designated.

For the week, June 26th to July 2nd, the Junior league will play as follows: Tuesday—Franklin at Ely, McKinley at Garford; Thursday—Garford at Franklin, Ely at Hamilton, Gates at McKinley; Friday—Franklin at Gates, Ely at McKinley; Monday, July 2nd—McKinley at Franklin and Garford at Hamilton.

In the Senior league six games will be played as follows. Tuesday—Gates at McKinley; Thursday—Gates at Hamilton, Friday—Hamilton at Franklin McKinley at Garford; Monday—Franklin at Gates and Hamilton at McKinley.

All playgrounds will be closed on Wednesday afternoon and evening in order to co-operate with the management of the Community picnic The playground work started out exceptionally well for the first week. In spite of organization difficulties and the extremely hot weather there was an attendance of over 3,000 on the various grounds.

The first big race rowed over the famous Henley course was that between Oxford and Cambridge, in the year 1829.

The Fulton team of the Kitty league has a valuable asset in Manager Dan Griner, whose pitching has resulted in several victories for his crew.

With scarcely 200 points separating the first and last teams, the Three I League has been staging one of the prettiest pennant races to be found anywhere on the minor circuits this season.

Sport Notes

The creation of a Dominion-wide racing commission is proposed for the control of the sport throughout Canada.

Mel Coogan, who now calls Brooklyn his home, has been matched for a 12-round contest with Young Jackel, the Toledo lightweight, to take place June 29 at Dayton, O.

A string of ten straight victories served to boost the St. Paul team in the American Association column, but Kansas City still contines to lead the race by a good margin

If the pitching and fielding of the Cleveland Indians were on a par with their heavy hitting, Speaker's tribe would soon lessen the distance between them and the Mackmen and Yankees.

The runaway race made by the Okmulgee leaders has served to lessen interest among many Western association fans and it is not unlikely that a change will be made in the association circuit before the season is much older.

Montreal tennis fans are looking forward to a treat the latter part of July, when the Japanese and Canadian racquet wielders are to meet on the Mount Royal club courts in the first round of American zone play in the Davis Cup competitions

John McGraw's assertion that the heavy hitting in the National league this season is due to the infusion of new blood is hardly borne out by the official averages, which show that a good majority of the leading batsmen are veterans of the game.

The failure of Leon Ames, former big leaguer, to pitch effectively for his team has resulted in his dismissal as pilot of the Daytona team in the Florida State league. The club owners felt that they could not afford to retain Ames merely as a bench manager

The victory of Pancho Villa over Jimmy Wilde means that America now holds all of the world's boxing championships. With no fighters of championship calibre in sight, Britain has arrived at the unhappy positions of being the home of boxing without one of her sons holding a world's title

Last Nights Fights

New York—Irish Paddy Flynn of Boston, stopped Jack Doran of California, in the fourth round.

Newark, N. J.—Knockout Phil Kaplan of Jersey City, and Eddie Shevlin of Boston, fought a fast 12 round draw.

Philadelphia—Tommy Laughran of Philadelphia, defeated Mike McTigue of Ireland, eight rounds; Jack Bernstein of New York, knocked out Freddie Jacks of Australia in fifth round.

Columbus—Buddy Christiano, Chicago, defeated Tony Zill, Youngstown, in 12 rounds. Mike O'Dowd, Columbus, won from Bad News Taylor, Philadelphia, on foul in first round of scheduled six round bout; Tommy Lewis, Columbus, knocked out Whirlwind Nugent, Fort Hayes, in third round and Chick Delano, Fort Hayes, whipped Joe Schwartz, West Jefferson.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE

Lou Gehrig has signed a contract recently with the New York American league baseball club. Gehrig was the sensation of the Columbia university baseball team this spring, starring as pitcher, first baseman and outfielder, and experts called him a second George Sisler. Prior to entering Columbia, Gehrig played with the High School of Commerce, N. Y., where he was known as the Babe Ruth of the New York school boys. Gehrig is a terrific hitter and is built on generous proportions. The Yankee management also recently signed Mike Gazellea, Lafayette college shortstop, and Ed Vanderbeck, the Fordham catcher.

* * *

England is content, but not exultant, over the outcome of its golfing battles with the American invaders, this spring. While the results of both the amateur and open championships were satisfying to the pride of England, in both cases they were too close for comfort.

Britain's satisfaction need not cause disappointment among American golfers. The United States has held the open championship for two years running and the reign of the home breds were certain to come to an end. An invading golfer faces many handicaps—difference in climatic and atmospheric conditions, modes of living etc.—that militate to a degree against him. A Briton coming to America faces the same odds and the chances always are small of the outlanders winning.

In the amateur at Deal, the English had no case until the semi-final round. Ives and Ouimet had gone down before Wethered. At Troon, Hagen kept his gallery uneasy up to the last two holes and MacDonald Smith's startling 69 caused chills of apprehension. There was glory enough for the Americans, even in defeat, for with three men among the first four the caliber of Yankee golf was firmly upheld.

Hagen fought magnificently, as he always can be expected to, but his shots were not going true. Kirkwood, always a sound, steady player, knocked at the door of the championship and it only is a matter of time until this new American is going to claim a major title. And another star appeared on the horizon when MacDonald Smith blasted his way to a new course record at Troon.

America still has the edge on Great Britain in that it holds the Walker cup, emblematical of the amateur team championship, but in individual championships the two countries are on even terms. It is very doubtful if any English pros will challenge in the national open at Inwood, next month, but it is quite certain that a few of the leading amateurs from abroad will enter the amateur play at Flossmoor in September.

Wethered, the new English amateur champion, is particularly eager to make another bid in our amateur, as he failed to qualify in both of his previous attempts at the Engineers and Brookline. Then, the large Tolley, who is playing great golf, also may come across for another whirl at the American cup. A group of British women also are expected to be in the field when the women's national is played.

FAY STOCKINGS AND COLSON CO. IN TIE

City Tennis Tournament Leadership Being Hotly Contested

The leadership in the Tennis league still rests with the Fay Stocking team and the Colson team for the matches on Saturday failed to break the tie, each team having won four and lost one The Harshaw-Fuller bunch continued their upward climb at the expense of the Y team, whom they defeated four points to one. There were no closely contested matches for the winners won in straight sets in every case. Paul Savage walked away with Jones of the Y 6-2 and 6-1 The former stroked the ball in good fashion and had little difficulty Stone of the Y won the only point for his team when he defeated Wood by straight sets, 6-2 and 6-1 Boo Savage then won the concluding singles by defeating Smith 6-2 and 6-0, the former's excellent placements and control proving the deciding factor. In the doubles Horan and Savage, last year's champions, uncorked some fine team work and won from Smith and Stone 6-2 and 6-3.

The Colson team lost for the first time when they ran up against the Fay Stocking. Both teams were evenly matched and the result depended on the last doubles betwen Matson and Gearhart and Harpster and Gamble. The latter team took the first set before the Colson duo came to life winning by 6-0. The second set was a real battle but the Fay team continued their same steady playing and took it by the score of 6-4 This gave the Fay Stocking the match, 3 points to 2. In the singles Harpster won from Gearhart 6-4 and 6-2. Harpster had his service working in fine fashion and it proved a good point-winner. Watson won from Birch 6-3 and 6-0, by using his drive to good advantage. Stevens defeated Gamble 6-2 and 6-0. The former player is putting up an excellent game and has yet to be defeated.

CUSTOMS AGENTS SEIZE LIQUOR ON BALTIC

Unloading seized liquor from S. S. Baltic in New York.

Government authorities "crossed the Rubicon" as far as the eighteenth amendment is concerned when they seized the liquor supply of the British liner "Baltic" brought into New York under British government seals. The liquor was for the return voyage. Customs agents seized all liquor above the amount prescribed by Dr. E. K. Sprague, chief of the U. S. public health service, as necessary for medicinal purposes.

Tagging The Bases

Rallying in the ninth for three runs, the Giants narrowly escaped defeat after the Phillies had knocked in seven runs in the eighth. Score 11-10.

Jesse Barnes twirling gave the Braves a 7 to 4 verdict over Brooklyn.

Timely hitting gave the Pirates their second straight win over the Cardinals, 3 to 1.

Smashing a triple with the bases loaded, catcher Hoffman started a seven run barbecue that enabled the Yanks to swamp the Red Sox, 14 to 6.

Rommell permitted Washington five scattered hits and the Athletics won 3 to 0.

The White Sox, Faber pitching, defeated the Tigers, 7 to 1.

Six runs in the sixth inning off Morton gave the Browns a 9 to 3 victory over Cleveland.

If you should move to another town

You would have to give up your favorite grocer and perhaps put up with one not quite so good. But if your favorite service station displays the Red Crown sign, there will be another just like it near your new home—a station where you will find the same high standard of courtesy and service, and good Red Crown Gasoline and Polarine Motor Oils and Greases.

And there's another big reason for making the Red Crown sign your buying guide. Complete motoring satisfaction—power, pep and pleasure with economy—can only come from using the same good gasoline all the time.

Red Crown with its famous complete chain of boiling points has qualities that good motor fuel must have. It is always dependable and its price is all you ever need to pay.

And there's comfort in knowing that wherever you may go in Ohio you can always be sure of finding one of the 400 Standard service stations—or a Red Crown dealer—nearby.

5 Grades Polarine Motor Oils

Polarine Motor Oils are supplied in five grades to insure correct lubrication of every type of motor. Polarine Transmission Lubricants and Greases provide perfect lubrication of all transmission units. And the Polarine Chart of Recommendations is a quick, sure guide to the proper grade for every part of your car.

See the Polarine Chart at any Standard Service Station—or at any store or garage where you find the Polarine sign.
